Your money may make them modern, You may build up a factory school, You may start with a hall for lectures, And end with a swimming-pool; But long as the hands of the children Must slave for your ease and your sales, The heart at the core of the world, Sirs, Will put down your mills with the jails. IV. There are men of lawless passion, In our prisons bound secure; But what are the crimes of the children, Who are bound though their hands are pure? For eleven hours--a strong man s day--They toil till the spirit fails; And thread by thread they spin the cords That bind up your mills with the jails. American Social Progress Series A New B00K by President Hadley of Yale University, will be ready June 15, on Standards of Public MoralityOrder now through Charities And The Commons. Price $1.00, postage prepaid. This is the second volume in the series of which Prof. Patten s New Basis of Civilization was the first.
