JOACHIM S MAGIC

Outskirts Press, United States, 2015. Paperback. Book Condition: New. 216 x 140 mm. Language: English . Brand New Book ***** Print on Demand *****.DEATH IN VIRGINIA! The Virginia wilderness in 1585 is a place full of unexpected danger. The expedition of Ralph Lane, under the sponsorship of Sir Walter Raleigh, is searching for gold, silver and, most valuable of all, copper, to fashion the armaments for England's impending war against Spain. It is a land of beauty and brilliance, but also fraught with peril. Indians lurk in the forests, once friendly but now openly hostile towards the explorers. And worse yet, prejudice abounds in these men who seek their fortunes, prejudices brought with them from Europe and England against Elizabeth I's very own metallurgist, Joachim Gans from Bohemia, the first recorded Jew in the New World. The characters are based on actual people who dared the terrors of unexplored America. Reis Courtney, thirteen years old and an orphan when his father is gored by a wild boar, steps forward from the safety of his uncle's farm in Surrey to apprentice himself to the wild-looking Bohemian man. His life up to that point has been a sad and meager existence, with taunting cousins and a mean-spirited aunt. Boldly he seizes his chance for a new life across the sea, though he has many questions about his new master and his strange mysterious ways. This first company of metallurgical explorers soon face many problems in dealing with the Natives (how to antagonize the Savages in three easy lessons)-possibly setting the stage for future colonization disaster. There is bold action, dramatic choices, blood and gore adventure with its opposite: philosophical meditations on the meaning of life and how to treat others in a hostile world. Throughout this sojourn Reis learns...
